

Christina Yanuaria

I'm the new kid. My somewhat fresh, outside perspective has long been inspired by the ethos of CCSF faculty. I'm about collaboration and empowering the rank and file of membership to lead and build a stronger City College that values and acknowledges the diversity of its faculty and breadth of expertise. My background in noncredit ESL at several different colleges, involvement in the Peralta Union, and work with educators across the state in CATESOL has given me experience with a range of models to collaborate with stakeholders within CCSF and our surrounding communities for our shared future.
