

Malaika Finkelstein

We're facing austerity and the rationing of education. The Union Power Slate is the team that kept CCSF open through the accreditation crisis, developed Free City, won our current contract, and is now pursuing local and statewide funding to grow our college. We can build on that work and strengthen the programs that students need. We can continue working towards equity in our college and build opportunities for meaningful participation.

As AFT 2121 grievance officer for the last six years, I've seen how our power depends entirely on our solidarity and commitment. I was on our last two negotiating teams, where we won strong contracts because faculty stood up together to fight.

I teach part-time in non-credit. To me, CCSF is about accessibility, community, and social justice. Elect the Union Power Slate and help keep CCSF a true community college!
